Alliance is a dedicated FIFO operator and offers a unique, Australia-wide network of aviation services. Alliance provides an essential service to the mining and energy industry – the safe and efficient transportation by air of their employees and contractors to and from remote locations. Alliance is a leading mining services company specialising in providing: FIFO services – providing the safe transportation by air of its mining and energy customers’ employees and contractors to and from remote locations; ad hoc charter services – operating commercial air charters servicing the needs of Government and corporate customers; and ACMI or wet leasing services – arrangements whereby Alliance provides an aircraft, crew, maintenance and insurance to a third party. Alliance Airlines is an entity of Alliance Aviation Services a Public Company listed on the Australian Stock Exchange in December 2011.
