The Traveling Shoe was founded in December 2010 by Leah Manasseh. Leah, having a love for traveling and backpacking decided to name the company "The Traveling Shoe" after she read somewhere that when a person travels, if he/she leaves their last pair of shoes anywhere in that city, the universe will make sure that they will revisit the place at some point in their lives! So if you are wondering, yes, Leah does leave her last pair of traveling shoes in a park or under a street bench in whichever country she travels...unless of course, she didn't like the place!
