Whispering Bell's experienced consultants work with our clients to understand their business and apply a consultative risk management approach, based on international standards, to assist our clients in understanding their security risk at the corporate level. Our consultants will identify appropriate risk mitigation strategies and implement them to manage risk cost-effectively to facilitate and protect our clients' business operations. In doing so we aim to ease the burden of those charged with the responsibility of managing risk, protecting the organisation or exercising 'duty of care' by providing risk analysis, defining requirements, developing a business case, providing qualified expertise to support and protect their business operations.
